ST PAUL'S & ST MICHAEL'S

St Paul's is the parish church in Honiton. The former parish church, St Michael's is now closed for services but still retains the churchyard for the parish.

The building of St Paul's began in 1835 on the site of the old Allhallows School Chapel. It was dedicated by Henry Philpotts, Bishop of Exeter, in 1838, the year after Queen Victoria came to the throne. The building was designed by Charles Fowler, a Devon architect who chose a Norman/Romanesque style with rounded arches built from local chert and Beer stone. The tower is a conspicuous landmark both in the town and the Otter Valley. It is 104 feet high and houses a clock made in 1851.

The first authentic record of St Michael's is from 1406 but the tower, nave and lower part of the church were built in about 1480 in the late perpendicular gothic style. The church is unusual in that it is built in a perfect rectangle, accounting for its fine acoustic qualities. St Michael's was badly damaged by fire in 1911 and was restored and re-dedicated in 1912. It stands at the top of Church Hill to the South of the town centre. This church is now closed but the churchyard remains in use for the parish.

Funerals

Funerals may be held at St Paul's or at a local crematorium (East Devon, Exeter or Taunton). If the service is in church it may be followed by cremation or burial.

Burials can be arranged for St Michael's Churchyard.

Burial of Ashes

It is possible that after cremation, you may wish for the ashes to be interred in the churchyard. Please discuss this with the undertaker at the time of making funeral arrangements.
